

WELCOME TO THE C S FORESTER SOCIETY

Dear Friends of C S Forester,

We welcome you to the website of the C S Forester Society! Since our Society was launched 10 years ago, we have dedicated ourselves to research and discuss Cecil S Forester's works and to honour his memory.

Please have a look on the menu on the left where you will find information about the author, his books and the activities of the Society. Your special attention is drawn to the annual meetings the Society holds and to "Reflections", a forum of discussion on all C S Forester related subjects.

This year, we had a very successful meeting in Lechlade-on-Thames, which was dedicated to Horatio Hornblower's trip down the Thames-Severn canal in 1805 on his way to London to take up the command of HMS Atropos and Nelson's funeral.

Our next meeting will take place in Portsmouth on 25 September 2010, and all members and friends of the Society are cordially invited. The focus of this get-together will be "Midshipman Hornblower", our book-of-the-year 2010. Portsmouth was chosen as the Admiral-to-be started his career in this important naval port. He immediately became talk of the fleet by falling seasick while the HMS Justinian, the ship he was assigned to, was still anchored in Spithead. The full programme of the meeting will be posted here in due course. For 2011 we plan to select a C S Forester book-of-the-year with a non-Hornblower related subject.

Friends of C S Forester, wherever you are, whatever your particular interest – Hornblower in print, in film or one of the numerous other topics the author covered – you are most welcome to the Society. Please stay in touch with us and we will welcome your news and contributions.

Yours sincerely

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Ludwig Heuse". The signature is stylized and includes a large, sweeping flourish at the end.

Ludwig Heuse, Chairman,

October 2009

PS: We are sorry that our old website www.csforester.org is out of date. We have not been able to amend or delete the site. Please continue visiting us at <http://csforester.eu>